	Examiner Lalita M Hamilton	Art Unit 3624

-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

35 USC 101 requires that in order to be patentable the invention must be a "new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof" (emphasis added).

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101, because the claimed invention is directed to a non-statutory subject matter. Specifically the method claims as presented do not claim a technological basis in the pre-amble and the body of the claim. Without a claimed basis, the claim may be interpreted in an alternative as involving no more than a manipulation of an abstract idea and therefore non-statutory under 35 U.S.C. 101. In contrast, a method claim that includes in the body of the claim structural / functional interrelationship which can only be computer implemented is considered to have a technological basis [See Ex parte Bowman, 61 USPQ2d 1669, 1671 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 2001) - used only for content and reasoning since not precedential].

In order to over come the 101 rejection above, the following preamble is suggested:

Art Unit: 3624

-A computer implemented method for ---, or something similar. Also, in the body of the claim include structural / functional interrelationship which can only be computer implemented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 4, 6-8, 10, 13, 15-17, 19, 22, and 24-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Naylor (US 2001/0049648).

Naylor discloses a method and corresponding system and computer program product for an electronic marketplace of works of art comprising producing a work of art over a network based on popular demand from a minimum number of bids from users, generating a project database including at least one project record, wherein each project record indicates a work of art collecting a number of bids from users for the work of art associated with the at least one project record, updating the at least one project record to record the number of bids for the work of art associated with the specific project record, and ordering the work of art to be produced if the number of bids for the work of art associated with the at least one project record reaches the minimum number of bids (p.2, 16-18, p.3, 22; and 9.6, 72); generating a user database including at least one user record, wherein each user record indicates a registered user (p.2, 16 and p.3, 26); customizing the work of art associated the project record for each user if the number of bids for the work of art associated with the at least one project record reaches the minimum number of bids (p.2, 16-18, p.3, 22; and 9.6, 72); collecting a number of bids from users for the work of art associated with the at least one project record is performed over an Internet (p.3, 27); and transmitting over the network an input page in which the user enters information about interest and preferences of user, receiving the input page with the information entered by the user, and recording the information in the at least one user record associated with the user (p.2, 16 and p.26).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 2-3, 5, 9, 11-12, 14, 18, 20-21, 23, and 27 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Naylor in view of Bundy (US 2002/0013761).

Naylor discloses the invention substantially as claimed; however, Naylor does not disclose setting a cutoff date or obtaining a pre-payment or a guarantee for payment for the work of art. Bundy teaches a method and corresponding system and computer program product for an auction comprising setting a cutoff date (p.6, 69) and obtaining prepayment (p.6, 73). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate a cutoff date and prepayment, as taught by Naylor into the invention disclosed by Bundy, to maximize the number of bids and protect the interest of the seller.

Provisional Application Listed on PTO-892 form

If a copy of a provisional application listed on the bottom portion of the accompanying Notice of References Cited (PTO-892) form is not included with this Office action and the PTO-892 has been annotated to indicate that the copy was not readily available, it is because the copy could not be readily obtained when the Office action was mailed. Should applicant desire a copy of such a provisional application, applicant should promptly request the copy from the Office of Public Records (OPR) in accordance with 37 CFR 1.14(a)(1)(iv), paying the required fee under 37 CFR 1.19(b)(1). If a copy is ordered from OPR, the shortened statutory period for reply to this Office action will not be reset under MPEP § 710.06 unless applicant can demonstrate a substantial delay by the Office in fulfilling the order for the copy of the provisional application. Where the applicant has been notified on the PTO-892 that a copy of the provisional application is not readily available, the provision of MPEP §

Art Unit: 3624

707.05(a) that a copy of the cited reference will be automatically furnished without charge does not apply.
